

Hidden Garden

From our doorstep in Zurich we can travel the world in plants. Gardens, small and large will form the basis for visits, talks and drawings. Far from being the antithesis of constructed architecture, we will explore how the garden may be the only paradigm for a new conception of architecture and design based upon growth, evolution and care. Ancient histories, global geography, contemporary botany, material science mythologies blossom together within the walls. Scholars and gardeners will lead us on visits through these self-contained universes, all in Zurich - some famous and visible to all, others well hidden beyond the outsiders view. We may never truly understand them but to be together within these elusive spaces will be the greatest discoveries of all.

16.03.2015 - 20.03.2015, Price Range A, min.15 - max. 25 students