

professur voser landscape architecture zurichs littoral

The shape of the city of Zurich is directly linked to water in all its aspects and states, from large-scale glacier movements to mythical creatures in fountains. By walking and drawing we embark on a journey through all these visible and invisible layers and stories of water and learn about the interacting systems.

‘Littoral’ not only stands for the transition between land and water – it rather symbolizes our constantly-changing relationship with the source of all life.
